New features include detailed descriptions of Unity's care programs and referral information; a photo tour of Unity's Jack and Engrid Meng Residence; electronic copies of all Unity brochures; caregiver and grief support program schedules; links to supportive resources for patients, families and the community; and information on planned Memorial Gardens on Unity's campus in De Pere, Wisconsin.

Also new is a quick reference section designed for the medical community that offers fast facts on palliative and end-of-life care as well as other resources.

"Unity's enhanced website is an extension of our commitment to serving the residents of Northeast Wisconsin with quality care during times of serious illness or at the end of life," said Nicole Curran, Unity's Executive Director.
